TENANCY VACANCY – PUBLIC LAW

Doughty Street Chambers is regarded as one of the leading Public and Administrative Law sets in the country. With a commitment to civil liberties and the promotion of human rights through the law members of chambers are regularly instructed in many of the leading and high profile public law cases of the day.

Chambers covers all aspects of public and administrative law work involving central and local government and regulatory bodies and is particularly well known for its work on community care, healthcare, social welfare and education law as well as having a growing Court of Protection practice.

We are now seeking to expand our Public Law team and invite applications from established public law practitioners who already have a track record and reputation in the field. Suitable candidates will be able to bring with them a sound client base and an established practice commensurate with their Call and will be capable of, or have the clear potential for the development of their own practice and that of chambers.

Candidates wishing to apply for this vacancy should complete and submit a Tenancy Application form which is available on our website. The closing date for the receipt of applications is Friday 19th March.

For further information about this vacancy or for an informal, confidential discussion please contact Martin Griffiths, Practice Director, on 020 7400 9060 or m.griffiths@doughtystreet.co.uk
